

MODERN LUXURY

MIAMI

ALL-AMERICAN BEAUTY

SUMMER HOT SPOTS
FROM THE HAMPTONS
TO HAWAII

FIVE-STAR

THE RELATED GROUP'S
NEXT BIG MOVE

ENTOURAGE & BEYOND

ADRIAN GRENIER
ON FAME,
FORTUNE AND MAKING A DIFFERENCE

THE NEW BREED OF BUSINESS

UNDER-40 ENTREPRENEURS TAKING
THE LEAD AND SHAPING MIAMI

DESIGN DO!

MAISON&OBJET
AMERICAS HITS
SOUTH BEACH

COOL & BREEZY

INDULGE IN THE BOHEMIAN
ÉLAN OF SPRING'S
BEST DRESSES

MODERNLUXURY.COM

May - June 2015

[ON THE SCENE]

Andres Rozo and Katie Stephan

The scene at Palm Court

BRAVO BRAVADO

An atypically chilly night didn't keep guests away from DACRA developer Craig Robins' cocktail party for artist Paula Crown in honor of her public art installation, Transpositions, in the Design District. Attendees such as Andres Rozo, Anthony Liggins, Diane Sepler, Eduardo Rojo and Florencia Jimenez Marcos bundled up to get a look at

CONTINUED...

Eduardo Rojo and Monica Madotto

[ON THE SCENE]

Paula Crown

Craig Robins

CONTINUED... Crown's oeuvre near Palm Court. Souls—if not bodies—were warmed by a performance featuring the fellows of the New World Symphony, who delighted the crowd with a program of classics. Looking on like proud parents were the New World Symphony's own CEO and president, Howard Herring, and artistic director, Michael Tilson Thomas. After much applause and Champagne sips, folks chatted up the artist about her contribution and tried to get Robins to spill the beans on which big-name brand is coming to the area next. —MM

See more parties at modernluxury.com/miami

Armando Collado and Susane Ronai